Miss Caroline Shillaber
Robinson Hall, Harvard University
Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Dear Miss Shillaber:

A few days ago I received a large package from you, but in disposing of the wrapper, I also disposed of your address, so I am sending this to Robinson Hall, to acknowledge receipt of a large volume which is seemingly called a collection of engraved plates of German gardens, but I am unable to locate an exact title. On the first page in pencil is written Dedication and English title and 33 plates. On the spine is a label "Maisons, et Jardins de Plaisance des Princess", Schwarzenburg, Lichtenstein et d'Althan

The top cover is broken away from the spine - was it in this condition when you sent it, or was the damage caused by the P.O. Dept.?

I am acknowledging its receipt to Mrs. Stover for her records, but I would like to know if your collation went to Reef Point direct and the title in English, if you please.

With kind greetings and best wishes for the holidays,

Cordially yours,
