Miss Dorothy Kingsford,
3101 R Street,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dorothy,

As usual there was so much to do at Dumbarton that I did not have a second in which to say goodbye to you and feel distinctly deprived at having vicariously to bid you farewell by a mechanized note. Will you also please tell Miss Bean that I hated leaving without another word with her but as usual left in a whirlwind, and so beg you to say goodbye to her from me.

Yours ever affectionately,
