Dearest Mildred:

At the risk of committing an indiscretion this note from Van Renssalaer is sent to you. He is evidently having a hard time and it looks dark ahead to me. If you can manage to do it will you read through this and give it back to me with his other letter when we meet at the end of this week.

It was heavenly to hear your voice and just like you to be so "rememberous".

Yours ever,

Trix

The letter has gone to Elizabeth. Thank you so much for telling me of her miseries.
