REEF POINT,
BAR HARBOR,
MAINE.

My ever so dear Mildred:

You may have forgotten that you were told that the small oil Odilon Redon which hung in the library at the Pavillon Colombe was coming to you and on to Dumbarton later.

It is far more fun to send it you now and to know that you and Robert will enjoy it, without waiting for me to disappear from the horizon. So it goes to you and I hope you will find a place for it wherever you may be, but if you don't care for it, turn it over to Dumbarton as soon as you please.

The joy of giving things one cares for to those whom one loves is a sensation that must be well known to you. Edith enjoyed the picture, and I bought it from her estate, so the history is complete. A hug to you both, my dears,

Love ever
Trix
