Dear Mrs. Bliss,

I was delighted to find this letter from Mr. Matthews waiting for me when I got home this afternoon. Isn't it nice to have an interested friend at the source? When you and Mr. Kearney have read it perhaps he will return it for the files here.

I have ordered samples also from Manuel Acosta (Fashionettes) and expect these will be the first to arrive. They should be kept separate from those Mr. Matthews is sending.

Do you think a good way to proceed would be to build a form on a bench in the storage yard---where there is space to spread out the material---and work up the design in sand first?

Sincerely yours,
