

Mrs Fisher
arranges flowers for all Public Buildings

GARDEN AND FLOWER SYMPOSIUM

COLONIAL WILLIAMSBURG

TREES, SHRUBS AND VINES

A brief list of the most common plant materials used in the restored gardens of Colonial Williamsburg. The native plants, of which there are a great number, and the introductions were all known in the eighteenth century.

Botanical Name*	Common Name*
Acer saccharum	Sugar Maple
Aesculus hippocastanum	Common Horsechestnut
Aesculus pavia	Red Buckeye
Ailanthus altissima	Tree of heaven Ailanthus
Albizia julibrissin	(Mimosa) Silktree Albizzia
Amelanchier canadensis	Shadblow
Aronia arbutifolia	Red Chokeberry
Asimina triloba	Common Pawpaw
Baccharis halimifolia	Eastern Baccharis
Betula lutea	Yellow Birch
Betula nigra	River Birch
Bignonia capreolata	Crossvine
Broussonetia papyrifera	Common Papermulberry
Bumelia lanuginosa	Woolybuckeye Bumelia
Buxus sempervirens	Tree Box
Buxus sempervirens	Dwarf Box
Callicarpa americana	American Beautyberry
Calycanthus floridus	Common Sweetshrub
Camellia japonica	Common Camellia
Campsis radicans	Common Trumpet creeper
Carpinus caroliniana	American Hornbeam
Carya illinoensis	Pecan
Catalpa bignonioides	Southern Catalpa
Celastrus scandens	American Bittersweet
Celtis occidentalis	Common Hackberry
Cercis canadensis	Eastern Redbud
Chaenomeles lagenaria	Common Flowering quince
Chionanthus virginicus	White Fringetree
Cladrastis lutea	American Yellowwood
Clematis virginiana	Virginsbower
Clethra alnifolia	Summersweet Clethra
Colutea arborescens	Common Bladdersenna
Cornus florida	Flowering Dogwood

*Reference: Standardized Plant Names, Ed. H. P. Kelsey and W. A. Dayton. 2nd Edition, 1942.

