Dear Mrs. Farrand:

We received your letter of September 27 asking for quotation on Roses. We are very pleased to hear from you again.

On the list you submitted there are five varieties, all in shades of yellow, that we cannot supply and we do not know of any Rose grower in U.S.A. who is now growing these varieties, viz - Marie Adelaide, Feu Pernet-Ducher, Roselandia, Lady Hillingdon and Harry Kirk.

In their place we suggest other Roses in shades of yellow in varieties that have some resemblance to the kinds we do not now have, with the exception of McGredy's Sunset in place of Feu Pernet-Ducher. No other Rose resembles Feu Pernet-Ducher; however, the McGredy's Sunset, suggested in place of Feu Pernet-Ducher is a really delightful variety.

On account of an unprecedented shortage of Roses, due to losses in the Rose fields last winter and the fact that the Army, Navy and war industries have taken away experienced help, we are obliged to make our quotations subject to stock unsold on receipt of your order.

With this letter we enclose a copy of our Fall Catalog showing the Roses we can now supply.

Very truly yours,

THE CONARD-PYLE COMPANY

S. James Todd.
